

BABY BROUGHT FAMILY TROUBLE.

Mrs. Sophia Henken Secreted Her Sister's Infant and Committed Suicide When Ordered to Give It Up.

An unwelcome child came to Dora Henken last month. It brought with it same and bitterness and death, and today the police of this whole city are looking for the little one.

They do not know whether it is dead or alive. They know it led to the suicide of its mother's sister, and they are not sure that before this crime was committed there was the grave one of murder—the murder by the aunt of the child that brought the shame on the family name, innocent and helpless though it was.

The woman who killed herself was Mrs. Sophia Henken, 11, 12 Graham avenue, Williamsburg. She was thirty years old and had two children of her own. Her husband was prosperous in a simple way and there was no cloud on the future of the married pair.

Two months ago Dora Henken, a sister of Mrs. Henken, arrived in this country from Germany. She told a story of having been wronged by a German army officer. Her parents had sent her to America in order that the consequences of her weakness might not stain the family name. In the home which had been theirs for generations.

Worried Over Disgrace. But Mrs. Henken was proud of her name in her new home. She did not want the finger of scorn pointed at her house and she worried over what she called the terrible disgrace. Still she clung to her sister.

The child was born in the Henken house April 15. Mrs. Henken took it and cared for it. When the mother was strong enough to get on her feet she asked for the little one. Her sister told her that she had sent it away to an institution in order that the neighbors might not know that it had arrived.

The mother's love in the German girl submerged all sense of shame. She wanted her child back no matter what the neighbors said, and she told her sister that she must have it. The sister refused to tell her where it was. Vowing that she would get it, Dora went away. She took a room at No. 200 Sands street, Brooklyn, and every day she went to Williamsburg and demanded her child.

On Saturday a man called at the Henken house. He told Mrs. Henken that he was a detective from Manhattan and that he had come at the request of Dora Henken to force her to give up the baby. Mrs. Henken would give him no satisfaction, and he went away saying that if by Monday evening the child was not produced he would arrest her.

Her Suicide Followed. Mrs. Henken told her husband of this visit. He says that he advised her to give up the child, that it belonged to the mother and to no one else, and that he promised to do so. He left his home yesterday morning as he went to his shop. When he returned for his lunch at noon he found the dead body of his wife in one of the rooms.

She had inhaled gas through a tube which she had attached to the gas jet. Her own two children were away at school.

The Williamsburg police are looking for the child. They have no report from Police Headquarters indicating that any detective was authorized to threaten Mrs. Henken with arrest if she did not produce the baby by last night. All the city institutions will be searched in the effort to find it.

SUES FOR HIS WIFE AFTER NINE YEARS.

George Graham Hart Asks $50,000 Damages from Frank Hardy, Member of the Larchmont Yacht Club.

George Graham Hart has sued Frank Hardy, a society leader of Larchmont, for $50,000 damages for the alleged alienation of his former wife's affections. The present Mrs. Hardy was formerly Mrs. Hart and the suit is based on the happenings of ten years ago. Before she wedded Hart Hardy was Miss May E. Bogart.

The case came up before Justice O'Connor today in the Supreme Court. Hart's lawyer entered a motion to vacate an order for the examination of Hart before the trial. Decision was reserved.

Frank Hardy was formerly President of Larchmont Village, and is Supervisor for Manhattan and Chairman of the Larchmont Yacht Club Executive Committee. He and his wife are leading figures in the Larchmont social circle.

In former years Hardy and his first wife and Mr. and Mrs. Hart were great friends. In 1921 Mrs. Hart took her life by the hand in Larchmont, where she got a divorce, charging desertion. Two weeks later she was married to Hardy, who had been divorced by his wife.

Hart claimed that his name and likeness were used for $50,000 damages against the Larchmont Yacht Club. Hardy denied the charges.

NEW QUARREL OVER COWS. Owner of the cow that was shot and killed by a car.

The last time a cow was shot and killed by a car was in 1921, when a cow was shot and killed by a car on the New York City streets.

MOTHER KILLED SON AND HERSELF.

Mrs. Helen B. Sharp Shot Her Fifteen-Year-Old Boy and Then Cut Her Own Throat—Husband a Suicide.

BURLINGTON, N. J., May 13.—The dead bodies of Mrs. Helen B. Sharp, wife of Harry B. Sharp, who four months ago committed suicide, and her fifteen-year-old son, Eddie, were discovered about 9:30 o'clock this morning in the sleeping apartment of the house occupied by Mrs. Sharp, on High street, this city.

It is believed the mother, in a fit of despondency, shot and killed her son and then ended her life by cutting her throat.

At 9:30 o'clock the house was still closed and the neighbors became suspicious. Frank Brewin, accompanied by Councilman Sholl, forced an entrance into the house and ascended to the room occupied by Mrs. Sharp and her son. The door was broken open.

Lying on the bed were the dead bodies of the mother and son, covered with blood. In the woman's hand was a clutched a razor with which she had almost severed her head from her body, while at her feet a revolver, with one cartridge discharged, told how the son had met his death. The boy had been shot in the temple, and from the appearance of the body death must have been instantaneous.

Coroner Wells took charge of the bodies and premises.

Harry B. Sharp, the husband, who shot himself some four months ago, was at one time a most prosperous business man, but he met with financial reverses.

Mrs. Sharp previous to her marriage possessed considerable money. After their wedding Sharp embarked in the jewelry business here. Eddie, the murdered boy, was a bright lad, and was a pupil of Pierce's Business College in Philadelphia.

RATHER DIE THAN BE SERVANT GIRL.

Catherine Harvey's Hopes of Solving Domestic Problem Shattered in a Day—Police Promptness Saves Her Life.

Catherine Harvey preferred death to being a household servant. When she left her home at Quarryville, in the Catskills, Saturday she had an idea that she was going to solve the servant-girl question, and instead of going to visit relatives, as she told her parents, she entered the home of Mrs. Ewart, in Plainfield, N. J., as a domestic.

About a day of that convinced her that it was not her mission to settle the troubles of servant girls, because she had found that she could not remain in the servant class.

So she came to New York and looked for a position as private secretary or foreign buyer for a millinery house. When she failed she could see no use in living. A policeman found her at Tompkins and Grand streets early this morning. She was crying and seemed in great distress. The policeman took her to the Delancey street station and there she asked for a drink of water, and when it was given to her she became calm.

At Gouverneur Hospital, where she was taken, it was found that she had swallowed laudanum. When revived she told of her shattered ambition, her inability to find higher employment and her fear to return home.

VINCENT NOLL DIES VERY SUDDENLY.

Friends of Theological Student, Who Said Adam Was a Myth, Believe Presbyter's Action Hastened End.

Death has solved the problem for Vincent Noll. He is wiser now than all the reverend clergymen in the deeply learned New York Presbytery. He knows the secret: they are only guessing.

They met in a contest of dogma and conscience. On the one side were 150 men well versed in Holy Writ; on the other a youth just out of the theological seminary.

They thought Adam was a real person. The youth thought he was a myth and they therefore denied him a preacher's license. This morning at 5 o'clock he died of hasty consumption. The result, it is asserted, of the worry and chagrin brought on him by this refusal.

His death occurred in the home of one of his sisters, No. 430 East Seventy-ninth street. He had been ailing all winter. The young man left the examination and took to his bed. The refusal of the license was only temporary, however. Another examination was decided upon. The Committee on Examinations called him to him while he lay in bed.

He stuck to his belief, and the members of the committee decided to report to give him a license. But he didn't live to see the second examination. He was so ill the next day that he was removed to the Presbyterian Hospital. Here the doctors ascertained that he had consumption.

Rev. Dr. John Ripley Gillet, professor of Theological German in the Union Theological Seminary, attributes Noll's death to the ordeal he underwent in the examinations. He said this morning: "It seems to me and I think to the other members of the faculty, that the action of the Presbytery either hastened or directly brought the young man to his death. There is no doubt that he was in poor physical condition when he took his first examination before the Presbytery. His condition was not such a character as to lead to his death as the immediate future."

"The young man was brought up before those 150 clergymen and literally pounded."

Noll's family refused to talk about his death this morning except to say that he had never changed his views about old Adam as had been reported.

DROPPED DEAD ON AN "L" STATION.

A. R. Adams, a Real Estate Operator, Succumbs to Apoplexy While Waiting for Sixth Avenue Train.

Augustus R. Adams, a real estate operator at No. 75 William street, dropped dead of apoplexy on the station of the Sixth Avenue "L" at Thirty-third street this afternoon.

He was on the uptown side waiting for a train when he suddenly fell over with a groan. When a surgeon came from the New York Hospital he was dead. The body was taken to the West Thirtieth street police station.

Mr. Adams was sixty years old. He lived at No. 16 St. Nicholas place and was considered wealthy. His nephew, Percy D. Adams, who is a prominent Republican in Harlem and a member of the Harlem Republican Club, was in business with him.

Many of Our Boys and Girls Are Suffering This Month from the After Effects of Winter Grippe.

Wise Parents Provide Paine's Celery Compound For Their Loved Ones.

The Wondrous Medicine Quickly Expels All Germ Poisons from the Blood and Fortifies the Weak and Run Down System.

A busy city physician enjoying a large annual income remarked the other day that a host of young people—boys and girls—were suffering this month from the after effects of winter grippe.

Dear parents, have any of your children suffered from an attack of the cruel monster grippe during the past winter months? Are your boys and girls irritable, feverish, pale or weak? Have they cold and clammy limbs? Is the blood watery, impure or sluggish? Is the appetite poor and digestion weak? Has the rose tint of health faded from the cheeks? If any of these conditions are noted, be assured the dregs of deadly grippe are implanted in the system.

If your children are not blithe-some, happy, boisterous and strong in May their condition calls for prompt action on your part. Their future—health and physical happiness or sufferings and early death—is in your hands, dear parents, and you alone are responsible to Heaven and the community of which you form a part.

When winter grippe has implanted seeds of virulent diseases the first and most important work is to expel from the blood every trace of poison. This is always successfully accomplished by the use of Paine's Celery Compound.

This marvellous medicine after purifying the foul and stagnant blood acts as a nerve food. It builds up the nervous system and nourishes all the bodily tissues.

Boys and girls with such a start in life as they always receive from Paine's Celery Compound grow up as sturdy as forest oaks; they reveal in strength and true life; they are fair to behold; they make the men and women most needed by our country. Do your part this month, dear parents, with promptness and honesty, and rest assured Paine's Celery Compound will not fail in its grand work of health building.
